Dear Hayley,

I am writing in support of the NCFE Level 3 Certificate in Graphic Design (603/7620/X).

I have worked as a Design Technology teacher for 32 years and for the last 20 years as Director of studies in highly successful Design Technology faculty offering a wide range of subject choices. I have worked as an assistant examiner for AQA and I have coordinated and delivered North West region Network meetings for both Graphic Design and Design Technology.

I believe this qualification is valuable for learners because it gives them the opportunity to study aspects of Graphic Design that will enable them to gain knowledge and practical skills in a wide range of relevant disciplines. It also gives learners both theory and practical tasks/examples throughout the course. On completion learners will have a portfolio of evidence, which will enable them to either progress to higher education or to look for job opportunities in the Graphic Design sector.

This qualification will allow learners to gain skills that are currently in demand in the creative sector and is a viable vocational alternative to those currently available.

Yours faithfully,
Mark Malone
